WATER-WORKS INVESTIGATION.

The Council Committee Makes its Report. The Council Committee on Water-works Investigation made its report yesterday afternoon to the Board of Councilmen, the substance of which is as follows: That the Secretary for December, 1873 to May, 1875, carried cash balances of over $5,000 for "office use," when the sum needed for such was not deemed more than $600. That from July, 1873, to February, 1875, said Secretary neglected his duties in not making quarterly settlements with collectors of all moneys by them collected, and in not making close deposits of all moneys by him received as Secretary, and that the $5,338 19 in his hands April 15, was not made good until May 10 to May 19, 1875.

The report says: We find from the testimony that since February, 1866, said Trustees have failed to make monthly reports to Council, which said failure we find to be an omission of their duty as Trustees aforesaid.

The report for this year, as shown by the testimony, is the first that mentions the outstanding liabilities of the Works, and, like the former, no inventory of the stock on hand is given.

We therefore find that said failure to make full and complete reports annually of the condition of said Works was a great irregularity and omission of their duty as Trustees aforesaid.

We find that since December, 1873, the Trustees have failed to cause all moneys collected for Water-works purposes to be deposited weekly by the collectors thereof, as required by law, which said failure we find to be a great irregularity and unwarranted omission of their said duty as Trustees aforesaid.

Had the Trustees enforced the rule strictly requiring all water rents to be paid when due, and the weekly deposit of all money collected by the Collectors for same, the receipts would have been for 1873, $423,837 37 instead of $422,113 02; for 1874, $433,244 33 instead of $411,555 10, thus showing that at a time when said Works were largely indebted, and said Trustees were borrowing money and issuing certificates of indebtedness, at a cost to the city of from six to eight per cent. interest, they were permitting said Collectors to carry, from 1873 to 1875, a balance of unpaid water rent bills and cash collections ranging from $4,724 24 to $7,163 45, contrary to the statute on that subject.

We further find that Christian Moerlein, who was elected April, 1870, as Trustee, failed to pay for the water by him consumed in his business during his term; that he should have paid $2,538 39, and the total sum by him paid for water was $1,050, leaving a balance of $1,898 39, with interest thereon, still due; that his co-Trustees, the Superintendent and Secretary of said Works, were aware of the non-payment of said water rent by said Moerlein.

We find that the estimating engineer for the Garden of Eden reservoir, Gust Bockh, in making the estimates of work done on the retaining wall, included all the Dayton stone work in the pile-diers done under a special contract, and that upon said estimates so made, contractor Barger has received $7 94 per perch for all Dayton stone work so done, in addition to the contract price, being a profit of about $1,000 on account of said Dayton stone work in said pile-diers.

We, therefore, find that said Charles Bockh, Engineer aforesaid, is guilty of neglect of his duty, including said Dayton stone-work in said pile-diers in his estimates, by reason of which said Barger received pay twice for said work.

We find that the Trustees have kept in the Water-works employ, at large salaries, parties engaged in business outside, to the loss and detriment of said city. That in 1873-'74 the Trustees knowingly kept in the employ of the Water-works parties who had been guilty of great irregularities in their conduct, and who were never reported to the Board, and were of little or no value, and no use has ever been made of them; the said Secretary drew from the Treasury $985 50 for returned water rent to cover bill for expenses of Committee East, August, 1873. We find said Secretary guilty of great irregularity in thus presenting said bill and obtaining the money thereon, and of unnecessarily employing at the expense of the city, parties to make up useless statistics. The testimony shows that the Assistant Secretary in 1873 loaned $1,300 of Water-works money, knowing the same to be such; that since this investigation commenced he did, at the request of parties interested, make alterations in the work of the office. We, therefore, find said Assistant Secretary guilty of great irregularities in loaning said Water-works money and in making the alterations as aforesaid in the office books.

The report also charges Kramer with failing to make weekly reports, with keeping no separate accounts, with loaning Water-works money, knowing it to be such and says: We therefore, find that said Moses Kramer was guilty of great irregularities in thus failing to make weekly deposits, as required by Section 340 of the Municipal Code, in keeping no separate account of same and loaning Water-works money as aforesaid.

A somewhat similar report was rendered regarding Merk and McCormick, not, however, charging them with loaning Water-works funds. It puts the amount yet due from Merk's district at $7,271 83, and that of McCormick, at $1,596.

With regard to the contract of the Trustees with the Cincinnati Stationary & Hydraulic Works for the two pumping engines to cost $97,575, the report says that the Trustees paid said contractors on account of contract of $94,334 24, the same being the entire contract price less $3,241 40, and an agreement was entered into by which said Contractors by the terms of which said contractors were released from the further completing of said work and from all damages sustained by the city by reason of the failure of said company to complete said engines; that it cost the City of Cincinnati to put said engines in the condition called for in said contract, therefor, $74,187 81, making the total cost of said Kilgour engines $108,491 65, instead of $97,575 00, the contract price. We further find that said drawings were incomplete; that an additional expense of $18,578 33 was necessarily incurred in procuring and strengthening said engines to keep them from falling apart; that the total cost of said engines, including plans and alterations made since they were started, is $204,400 48, and that by reason of the failure of said company to complete said Kilgour engines, and of the release to them of all damages sustained, the city lost $70,916 15, for which said city has no redress against said contractors.

The bills of the committee for reporters, etc., were $1,219 20.

The Moran Frauds.

The inquest on the body of William Moran, who was killed at the sale stable of Thompson & Co., at No. 26 East Fifth street, Thursday evening, about half-past four o'clock, was resumed by Coroner Malby this morning, and the following additional testimony was elicited: James Hughes was the first witness called, and testified as follows:

Live 30 East Fifth street, and am a dealer in horses. I have known the deceased about 20 years. This difficulty occurred on Thursday about 4 1/2 o'clock. I was standing on the north side of Fifth street, near Thompson's stable. Wm. Moran was standing at his stable door. Moran, when Nicholas pulled out a knife. William commenced retreating and in so doing fell over a chair. Thomas, who at the time was coming across the street, hailed me and advanced towards William. I heard no previous conversation between them. Both Thomas and Moran struck at him at the same time, and Thomas struck down on the sidewalk with William.

Thomas got up again, then both began kicking him in the side and face. William made an effort to get up, but fell down again. I saw Thomas kick him, but I won't state about Nicholas. I got the latter by the arm, and said if he didn't stop he'd kill the man. Moran, who was from me, I saw a young man about 18 years old engaged in the affray, and saw him kick William, but I don't know who he was; I wouldn't know the man if I saw him again.

Thomas and Moran struck at him at the same time, and Thomas struck down on the sidewalk with William.

When he got on the sidewalk I saw William fall over a chair, but saw no one strike him. Subsequently I saw Thomas strike him once or twice with his fist. I then went across the street, when Thomas fell, but got up and got up but couldn't. Thomas then kicked him in the back and ribs several times. I didn't think the kicking was severe enough to produce death.

I thought that William would revive in a few minutes and was only lying with his face down to the pavement and thus protect himself. I didn't see Nicholas strike or kick him. I can not say positively whether I saw Nicholas Moran, Jr., there or not. I saw William rise upon his arm once and then sink back. I saw no knife in Nick's hand, and I saw no one strike William but Thomas.

Owing to the absence of Edward Moran, a little son of the deceased, who was attending the funeral, which took place this morning, the inquest was adjourned until 2 o'clock, as his testimony was of an important nature.

A contributor to Blackwood labors diligently in the attempt to show that, although the French have been busy since the last war, they have in fact done very little in the way of organizing their army, while the Germans, on the contrary, have steadily improved their military forces, and have brought them much nearer a standard of perfection than ever before. All of which we are inclined to believe.

The Happy Fellows' Dancing Association organized August 11, 1875, with the following officers: Rub. Walker, President; J. Hodder, Vice President; Geo. J. Ziler, Secretary; J. C. Spelman, Secretary; Wm. Buchanan, Chairman.

The reason of the unprecedented demand for Dr. Price's Cream is the result of their being just as represented, of superior strength and uniform quality, coupled with the equally superior quality of the ingredients, and a certain degree of adulteration. Having thoroughly tested them ourselves, we have no hesitancy in saying that they will accomplish just what is claimed for them. Send us a trial, and we will readily convince any person as to the truth of our assertion.
